Wilderness

Congress has designated more than 330,000 acres of Joshua Tree National Park as wilderness. The 13,000 acres north of the park boundary is wilderness. If you plan to venture into these areas, you must be familiar with special rules and regulations governing wilderness use.

Most of the park away from road corridors is wilderness. If you plan to venture into these areas, you must be familiar with special rules and regulations governing wilderness use.